

The Facts.

Myself and my love eat at Le Manoir NDG twice weekly - generally on Thursday afternoons and Sunday mornings. We love the food and the people there. Louis - the daytime manager is a great guy - although disenchanted with his salary from someone who is worth more than $500M - Peter Sergakis.

Louis and I hammered out the details on the reception for our wedding - something that in a personal meeting with Peter Sergakis - he said - 'I will make this happen.' I presented him the details of my menu requirements and all was a go. Then on Thursday, Feb 6, Louis said to me: 'I am going to be on vacation for Feb 14th, so I am going to give you Costa Soilis - my supervisor's phone # - so that you can go through all the details with him.' The same Thursday I sent Costa an email detailing everything that Louis and I had discussed. That same day - he got back to me saying that Le Manoir NDG wouldn't be able to accommodate my wishes - because of food costs and staffing costs. He didn't even offer me to do the reception at a higher price. He just summarily dismissed me and wished me well - leaving me high and dry 1 week from my wedding day - which is on Valentine's Day - a very busy day in the hospitality industry! It was 11pm when I received costa's message and - incensed - I called Peter Sergakis' private cell # and spoke with him. He told me he would talk to Costa Friday morning and call me back.

I have known Peter for 40 years and have always liked him - despite all the rumours and innuendo which floats around about him. But this was the first dealing I have really had with him. On Friday I called him several times - which he never picked up - and he doesn't have voicemail. I emailed him several times - and understand he doesn't often read his emails. I was shut out.

Thankfully, God mad a way for me! Here are the details of my wedding and reception: Ross 'n Christy's Wedding. I invite anyone reading this to join us. Because many people believe that Christy and I are severely mentally ill - many will not show up. We will have Heineken beer, 6 types of pizza and soft drinks for 100. You are all welcome! And please - stay away from all Sergakis businesses. Support the small business people in the area who need your money.
